

May 14, 2022
10 AM

STANFORD UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
MEDICINE & THE MUSE PRESENTS

FLAMES IN THE NIGHT THE JOY OF STORYTELLING

a symposium featuring student presentations, performers, and art exhibits

Featuring Emily Silverman, MD
host of The Nocturnists

PROGRAM

10:00 AM - Welcoming Remarks

Dr. Alyssa Burgart

Stephen Marcott, Student Committee Director

10:10 AM - Student Presentations

Songs My Mother Taught Me by Neil Wary & Ethan A. Chi

Dark Skin Representation in Medical Diagrams and Health

Disparities in People of Color by Mina Phipps

How did you get here? by Francesca Noelette

Scion by Kevin Chang

A Day in the Life by Jessica Pullen

Ulcerative Colitis by Divya Mehrish

If you frame it in this certain way by Sarah Rockwood

Run for Your Life by Jason Gomez

Scalpel, Please by Sophi Scarnewman

Who's Gonna Take You Home? by Stephen Marcott

11:00 AM - Keynote Speech by Dr. Emily Silverman

Q&A to Follow

11:45 AM - Closing Remarks by Dr. Bryant Lin

ONLINE GALLERY

Additional works are viewable in our online gallery.
Scan the QR code below to access, or click the link:
<https://tinyurl.com/MedMuseSym22>

